Flock to Fedora – June 2026 – Czechia

14-16 June 2026 — Prague, Czechia

Flock to Fedora, or “Flock,” is the Fedora Project’s annual flagship contributor conference. Flock gathers contributors (typically 100-200 people) who are maintainers, packagers, marketers, designers, and ambassadors from the community to advance the Four Foundations of the Fedora Project: Freedom, Friends, Features, First. Flock is where we pursue cutting-edge open source Linux innovation connected to downstream derivative communities such as CentOS, RHEL, AlmaLinux, Amazon Linux, Rocky Linux, and others.

Benefits of Sponsorship

The flagship upstream event for the Fedora developer community

- Engage with a passionate community of open source contributors working in a community upstream to influence the future of Fedora Linux and Enterprise Linux.
- Create brand awareness for how your organization engages and participates in upstream Linux development. Build increased recognition and credibility as a community partner with grassroots users and engaged contributors.
- Support and engage with the ecosystem and community driving development around the RPM and Enterprise Linux ecosystem.
- Give back to the open source community. Fedora provides grants and reimbursement to contributors in need of financial support to attend the event and participate with our global community.
